What personal information do we collect?

When you fill in the contact form, the teacher securely processes and stores what you enter, and emails it to the appropriate recipient. They will use it to respond accordingly, archiving correspondence just like you would expect any responsible company to do.

When you contact us by phone, email or post, we will also use your contact details and personal information to respond appropriately and archive it securely for an appropriate length of time.

If you become a new teacher, we will ask you for the personal information we need in order to work with you. We will store it securely, and delete it if appropriate if you stop being a Little Movers and Shakers teacher in the future.

Cookies

If you view embedded content from YouTube, Spotify or another company, that content will be clearly flagged and you will be asked for consent to allow the third party to set cookies. If you agree, a cookie will be set by us to log this consent, so we don't have to bug you every time.

How and where your data is stored

We collect your name, phone number and email and store these while you attend our class, but delete them after you stop. We keep emails up to 5 years and then delete them from the list.
